Early Christmas Party Held for Cancer Victim

Nine-year old Michael Nicholson, spinal cancer patient, Mike is paralyzed from the waist down. He was guest of honor at an early Christmas party last Saturday at his home, 8835 La Mar, Spring Valley. He is convalescing from a bout with rheumatic fever suffered some two and a half years ago. He understands how it is not to be able to get around, read a recent out news story about Mike's new wheelchair provided by the American Cancer Society.

While bedridden with rheumatic fever, Bob had read a library book about ventriloquism. Since then he has taught himself the "trick of throwing his voice." He has achieved such success that today he is greatly in demand, as a professional ventriloquist. Besides television appearances, he has delighted servicemen's clubs, women's organizations and private party hosts throughout the El Cajon area.

Bob is not content to limit his talent to paid performances. He especially enjoys cheering patients at San Diego Naval Hospital, El Cajon Valley Hospital and Edgewood Geriatric Hospital.

An "Acorn" Grew Bob decided to entertain Mike and his friends. That was the "acorn" that grew to the "Early Christmas Party" when it was learned that Mike, because of impending surgery, may not be home during the holidays.

The Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce joined in the fun, sending Santa Claus as its representative.

The El Cajon Junior Women's Club baked cookies and made punch.

The El Cajon Unit of the American Cancer Society helped with party arrangements.

Michael's parents, his seven brothers and sisters, and his many friends joined Mike in providing one of the most appreciative and delighted audiences Bob has ever entertained.

Bob is a junior at Granite Hills High School in El Cajon where he attends half-days. He still must rest during the afternoons.

He has two professional "dummies," his favorite being "Ricky McDuffy." The other he calls simply "it," as sometimes it plays the role of Diana, at other times is Danny, according to needs of the moment.

Luekmia Victim

Fund Grows to $163 For Steve Veliquette

A free soft-drink stand will be one of the attractions Saturday, Dec. 3 at Len's Miniature Golf Course during Steve Veliquette Day. Proceeds from the project will be used for medical aid and for medical research for luekmia. Steve is the 6-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean P. Veliquette, of 2895 Orange, while, at the same time, they would be helping Steve Veliquette. The scene of the activity will be at the golf course at School Ln. and Central.

At the golf course Dec. 3, prizes will be awarded every half hour for various things. Some will go for golf scores. Other will be in the fashion of door prizes. There will be no charge made for entering contests or playing golf. Boxes will be strategically placed to encourage contributions, tho.

Chairman of the project is the Rev. Jimmy Johnson, assistant pastor of the Skyline Wesleyan Methodist church, has been named chairman of the project by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club, the sponsor.

Mr. Johnson said the proceeds will be used for Steve's medication and for research. Steve's physician has kept the boy going for a period much longer than most victims. This gave local residents hope that a newer, more effective treatment has been developed by a local doctor.

This week $21 was contributed to the Steve Veliquette fund bringing the total to $153. Jack Coffin and Bob Russell each gave $10. The Business Women's League gave $10, and Kathy Miller gave $1.

Within the next few days youngsters of the Lemon Grove schools will distribute free tickets to local residents. The tickets will be used for door prize drawings for free gold game, Mr. Johnson said.

Contributions may be made to Bob Dryden, manager of the U.S. National Bank. Merchandise prizes should be made through L. Farness at Brumley's Shoes.

Arthritis Victim Saved By Unknown Person In Lemon Grove Blaze

A Lemon Grove man nearly lost his life Saturday afternoon in a fire at his home. Steven Pedery of 2835 Massachusetts Ave. was found in a semi-conscious state on the front lawn of his home by Lemon Grove firemen when they responded to the call at 3:54 p.m. Saturday.

Pedery, an arthritis victim, was removed from the house by an unknown person. This probably saved his life, according to Assistant Fire Chief Fred Dixon.

The Lemon Grove Fire Department's resuscitator unit administered oxygen to Pedery and then rushed him to a doctor's office where he later was released.

The fire caused $600 damage to the living room. It was assumed to have been started by a cigarette igniting a couch that the victim was lying on.

The flame spread from the couch to a wall in the living room. Two engine companies and 22 men responded.

Public Health Dept. Urges Vaccinations

The San Diego Department of Public Health has reminded dog owners that all dogs in the county over four months of age are required by law to be vaccinated against rabies.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said the California State Department of Public Health redeclared San Diego County a rabies area in September because the existence of rabies in the county constitutes a public health hazard.

Nearby Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Imperial Counties were also redeclared rabies areas, as well as Inyo County.

"The situation is serious," Dr. Askew said. "It is obvious that rabies is present throughout a broad area of Southern California. Dogs are constantly at risk of exposure to rabies through infected wildlife."

He added that the rabies epidemic in San Diego County wildlife has not yet "burned itself out." He said that only last week, on Nov. 16, the Department of Public Health Laboratory confirmed the presence of rabies in a fox killed in Descanso.

Rabies vaccine is effective for two years. Rabies vaccinations now are acceptable for both 1967 and 1968 dog licenses.

Dr. Askew urged owners of APPLIANCE SHOW — Many home appliances that were in vogue when the first Electric and Home Appliance Show was held in 1933, like the refrigerator shown above with Vicki Palmer, "Miss San Diego", will be on display at the 1966 edition of the show which will be held in the Exhibit Hall of the Community Concourse, Nov. 25-30, free to the public. Also shown above is the latest model 1967 refrigerator.

Brookside Mothers Committee Continues 'War' on Ditch

In accordance with its aims of health, welfare and well-being of the residents of Brookside, the Brookside Mothers Committee, this past week submitted a report on progress made in that area for the past two months.

Oct. 18, the committee, through the cooperation and assistance of the Brookside Men's Auxiliary, established two more sub-committees: Anti-Litter and Traffic Safety.

The Anti-Litter Enforcement committee is composed of five members and is coordinated by the beautification chairman, who will assist in achieving goals. Since its formation in October, they have put words into action, according to Mrs. Diane Klostermeier, president Brookside Mothers Committee.

On Oct. 19-20 members cleaned the Brookside "channel." Seven large cans of litter were removed. This included splintered and jagged glass, all types and sizes of metal pipes, paper (from chewing gum wrappers, newspapers and cardboard boxes), wine bottles, beer cans, soft drink cans and bottles, toys, some clothing and a five gallon paint bucket. All this had accumulated since the Committee had cleaned the channel in August.

Cement Chunks Prior to that time, the Mothers Committee had cleaned the channel in April. It was noted that some of the large chunks of cement that the authorities had lined portions of the ditch, in order to prevent erosion, had been undermined with water. The chunks of cement weigh hundreds of pounds and several have given way and fallen from the embankment into the bottom of the ditch.

"Needless to say, there is much danger from the chunks of cement if one should give way while a child would be near. The Mothers Committee entreats all youngsters to stay out of the ditch," Mrs. Klostermeier said. She also said, "in some plac-

Monte Vista High's two foreign exchange students this year are from the Union of South Africa and Switzerland.

Margaret Withey, 18, daughter of a South African seed company director, is majoring in English. She has graduated from prep school in South Africa and had attended five months of college before coming to the United States in August.

Chris Haas, 17, also is a high school graduate and attended a junior college in Switzerland before being chosen to attend an American high school as an exchange student.

He is majoring in English. His father is a Swiss bank clerk.

Margie is staying with the Sidney Culter family of La Mesa. Chris' American "parents" are Mr. and Mrs. Thorwald A. Lambert, also of La Mesa.

The students will attend Monte Vista through June and then tour the United States before returning to their respective countries.

33rd Home Show Starts Friday

The 33rd Electrical and Home Appliance Show will be held, free to the public, from Nov. 25 through Nov. 30 in the Community Concourse, Exhibit Hall, San Diego, it was announced by Charles Copeland, president of the Bureau of Home Appliances which has sponsored this and previous shows since 1933.

"This is the largest free continuous show in the nation, as far as we can learn", said Copeland.

J. Clark Chamberlain, the Bureau's secretary-manager, will again manage the show and Lee Bornstein will be show chairman.

The six-day show will open at noon Friday with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at which Vickie Palmer, 19, "Miss San Diego" the show's official hostess, will clip the ribbon, assisted by Edward C. Hall, president of the Downtown Association and Copeland.

Lights On At 7:30 p.m., the Christmas lights throughout the Community Concourse will be turned on, with the Mayor and Santa Claus, official host of the show, pulling the master switch, following the rendition of familiar Christmas carols by the San Diego High School robed choir.

During the show, Santa will be on a special stage to chat with his many little friends, with candy gifts for all.

Tying in with the "Try San Diego County First" program, the show management will give away vacation week-ends at many San Diego County resorts at a drawing on the final day of the show, but a coupon which can be obtained from any appliance dealer member of the Bureau, must be filled out and deposited in the treasure chest at the show. The winners need not be present to win. Resorts participating are: Kona Inn, Hotel del Coronado, Torrey Pines, Puma Valley Motor Lodge, Vacation Village, Hanelei Hotel and the Bahia. Tickets to the Gulls, Holiday On Ice extravaganza, and the Charger games also will be given away.

Exhibits Being exhibited at the show, many for the first time, are all types of electrical and gas home appliances including radios, TV's, air conditioners, model kitchens, refrigerators, electric trains, therapeutic equipment, home modernization items, and many others.

Some of the "firsts" will include the Counter that Cooks; a home TV tape recorder; automatic lawn butler; snow thrower for mountain cabins; telephones for the handicapped; combination blender, cooker and ice crusher; and built-in radios for every room in the house.

Many appliances, photos and advertising material from the Bureau's first show in 1933 will be on display.

Viva La United States

There is something thrilling about the election of Wadie P. Deddah as Assemblyman in the 77th Assembly District—regardless of the political faction he represents.

Deddah, an Iraqi, who became naturalized and qualified as a teacher, defeated Paul Sutherland, a candidate who appeared to be a shoo-in for the post.

Just what happened is an interesting study in the political arts but that is not the subject of this vignette.

We are more interested in the comparison between foreign-born citizens and those who are born to democracy. Deddah, in the several speeches he heard him make, discussed democratic principles as part of his representation. His sensitive, awelike approach for Constitutional concepts always made us feel prouder of being American.

Let no one assume that we line up with Deddah's political and sociological principles just because we are overcome by his admiration for our Constitution. We believe that Deddah will change some of his political attitudes as he becomes enmeshed as a lawmaker—under Constitutional rules. But we have often wondered why more candidates did not identify with the Constitution and the democratic principles attendant.

Maybe too many of us spend our effort trying to get "rights" not included in the Constitution instead of making certain that we keep open those that are spelled out. As a result, we become to believe that our Constitution will forever defend our right—even as we approve the whittling away of the rights of others.

But back to Deddah. In few speakers have we seen the awe for democratic principles so reverently presented. We are hopeful that his activity in Sacramento will back up his public attitude. We think it will because naturalized Americans seldom lose their love and respect for the world's

A HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO ALL!

TODAY'S Meditation
from
The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
Read I Thessalonians 5:16-24

Be always joyful; pray continually; give thanks whatever happens; for this is what God in Christ wills for you. (I Thessalonians 5:16-18, NEB)

At Thanksgiving our church-school children dramatize an ancient Palestinian harvest festival. When they bring their food offerings to the sanctuary, in their procession they carry four plants. One is delicious to the taste, one pleasing to the sight, and one sweet-smelling. The fourth plant is not pleasant to see, to smell, or to taste; it is the bitter "willow-of-the-brook." In this way the children learn to be thankful for the unpleasant, as well as the pleasant, things of life.

In our scripture text, the apostle is concerned with our offering up in prayer without ceasing every circumstance and experience of life. We are to accept the sweet and the bitter, with a thankful heart.

This is a hard saying, we protest. But Paul experienced what he taught. He was the man who in prison prayed and praised God, who gave thanks before his deliverance, and who from prison shared his joy with his friends: "I wish you joy in the Lord."

Prayer: "Thanks be to Thee, O Lord Jesus Christ, for all the benefits which Thou has given us; for all the pains and insults which Thou has born for us; O most merciful Redeemer, friend and brother, may we know Thee more clearly, love Thee more dearly, and follow Thee more nearly; for Thine own sake. Amen."

Thought for the day: I will thank God for all the experiences of the day.

Local Christian Scientists To Observe Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving will be observed at an 11 a.m. service Thursday at Christian Science Society, 7741 Pacific Ave., Lemon Grove.

Sermon readings from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook will bring out the close relationship between prayer and Thanksgiving.

A period will be set aside for testimonies by Christian Scientists in the congregation pertinent to the Thanksgiving season. All are invited to join in singing the Thanksgiving hymns.

The church soloist, Dana Keedy, will sing "O Be Joyful" by Harvey Harding, accompanied on the organ (piano) by Sally Clarno.

A Golden Text from Colossians and Responsive Reading from Psalms will set the theme for the service: "Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving... pay thy vows unto the most High."

The Bible Lesson will include Jesus' instructions to pray "in secret," along with related passages from the Christian Science textbook:

"Christians rejoice in secret beauty and bounty, hidden from the world, but known to God... Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind... To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings." ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy)

The service will be conducted by the first reader of the church, Mrs. Pearl Fullerton, and by Mrs. Doris Shurley, second reader.

UCS CONTRIBUTION — A record contribution to the United Crusade is taken from the safe of the Grossmont Union High School District by Mrs. Virginia Clapp (left), vocational education consultant and Mrs.

Olive Balding, secretary to the superintendent. Both women served as keymen for the certificated and classified employees campaign which raised $8,655.50, a 34 percent increase over last year.

Know Your United Crusade

Q. Why do some member organizations of the United Crusade charge fees for services?

A. To stretch your contributed dollars as far as possible. No one is denied service because he can't pay a fee, but member organizations ask those who can afford to pay all or part of the direct cost of the services to do so. This makes it possible to serve more people.

Q. Why do some member organizations of the United Crusade raise money in addition to their United Crusade support?

A. United Crusade support covers only annual operating expenses for its member organizations. They are permitted to conduct capital fund drives for building or remodeling after their plans have been approved by the United Crusade. They may also receive approval to sell products or conduct benefits in which participants receive some value for their contribution. Member organizations may also conduct membership enrollment programs among interested persons who desire to do something extra for a specific organization in addition to their contribution to the United Crusade.

Q. Why do youth services absorb such a large portion of the United Crusade dollar?

A. Thirty-five per cent of San Diego County's population is 18 years of age and under. It makes good sense to lend our young people a strong hand towards sound citizenship through the services and guidance of such organizations as the Scouts, YMCA, Boys and Girls Clubs, Camp Fire Girls, etc.

Only 5,597 dairy plants were in operation in the U.S. in January 1965, compared to over 19,000 plants during 1958.

GIRL SCOUT CHATTER

by Mary D. Giacinto

Girl Scout Troop no. 542 of San Altos School in Lemon Grove viewed the political scene of the recent election in conjunction with earning their Active Citizens Badge.

Judge Richard Donovan, former Assemblyman, loaned the troop a slide series showing how laws are made. Mrs. Joseph Wyer narrated. She told of the life of a bill from conception to signing into law by the governor. Mrs. Wyer explained who makes our laws and how we elect men to office.

This introduction to voting was followed by a visit to the local polling center where the various equipment was shown by the poll inspector. Jeri Morgan and her troop 542 stayed to witness people actually casting their votes.

To show their patriotism and to spur others to do the same, the girls distributed notes on voting day reminding citizens of their civic duty to vote, earning the Active Citizens Badge.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

The Spanish word "Tapatio" will frequently be heard around the colonial city of Guadalajara. The reason being, "Tapatio" is the nickname for the residents of the state of Jalisco, for which, Guadalajara is the capital city.

While visiting Jalisco, one may hear songs about "Bailes Tapatios" (Jalisco Dances), "Ojos Tapatios" (Jalisco Eyes), and "Ranchos Tapatios" (Jalisco Ranches). Restaurants serve "Carne a la Tapatia" (Jalisco style meat) and "Desayunos Tapatios" (Jalisco Breakfasts). Most typical of the area is the "Musica Tapatia" (Jalisco Music).

Once one has been a guest in the state of Jalisco (ha-LEES-koh) one almost always becomes an "aficionado" (fan) of the carefree and colonial area. The many "plazas" (squares) and "iglesias" (churches) plus the "hospitalidad" (hospitality) of the people make this part of Mexico a must.

Some of the words and phrases one may use while in the land of the "Tapatios" are in today's lesson. See how quickly you can learn to say them. Test your pronunciation with the phonetic guide after each phrase. Then dial 276-2762 and practice saying the phrases with the two minute Spanish recording.

Important Expressions:
Say "El es un Tapatio."
(eh-ehs uhn ta-pai-TEE-oh)
for "He is a Jaliscoan."
Say "Ella tiene ojos Tapatios."
(eh-yah tee-eh-noh OH-hohs tah-pa-TTE-ohs) for "She has Jaliscoan eyes."

Jalisco Expressions:
Say "Yo soy de Jalisco."
(yoh soh deh ha-LEES-koh)
for "I am from Jalisco."
Say "Jalisco tiene mucha hospitalidad."
(ha-LEES-koh tee-eh-noh MOO-cha ohs-pee-tah-lee-DAHD) for "Jalisco has a lot of hospitality."

Other Expressions:
Say "Es musica Tapatia."
(ehs MOO-seek-ah tah pah-TEE-ah)
for "It is Jaliscoan music."
Say "Yo no soy Tapatio."
(yoh noh soh-ee tah-pa-TTE-oh)
for "I am not Jaliscoan."

Churches Help Southeast San Diego's Underprivileged

Two new members have been inducted into the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club. They are Earl Roland, owner of Roland Refrigeration at Bancroft and Koonce Dns., and Darrel Gould, a teacher at Monte Vista High School, who has been active with the Key Club at Monte Vista.

Guest speaker at the Nov. 16 breakfast-meeting was Rev. Keith Mitchell, former pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mitchell spoke and showed slides on the work of Presbyterian churches and other denominations are doing to help underprivileged persons in the southeast section of San Diego. He told of the growth of the city and how a sort of ghetto has been created in that section of town.

He said the Greater Parish Ministry, which has been operating for over two years, has helped the people of that area, and that the "surface has just been scratched." He said that by 1970 it is expected approximately 10,000 people will be living in the southeast section of San Diego.

Rev. Mitchell said the churches, individuals and college students have been lending a hand, and that a helpful program is in swing. The older teenagers are still a problem, he said, but plans are to help them also.

The program to help the people of southeast San Diego includes a summer program, more and better tutoring, field trips, a food emergency program, and science education, which can be taught after school hours. He said the science program started with 16 youngsters and has grown to over 50, with several on the waiting list.

How is the program progressing? The response is very good, Rev. Mitchell indicated. What do the people of that area think about "outsiders" coming in to help? As one Negro man said, "We don't care as long as they are real people."

Committee will work towards less speeding, adequate signs, road maintenance and community traffic safety education. The Traffic Safety Coordinator is a member of the Brookside Men's Auxiliary. The sub-committee presently has seven members. Those wishing to serve on either of the two committees, may call 465-4823 or 465-8535.

"Particular stress will be made for the installation of 25 mph signs, 15 mph signs on Thunderbird Lane, bicycle regulations and a Yield to Traffic or stop sign at Central and Fairway Dr. A "Slow" sign is needed by the hill entering Star Light Terrace.

After a six months period of intensive reporting, study and analysis of all traffic safety problems, solutions to improve conditions will be made.

"We are happy," said Mrs. Kostermeyer, "that after consulting the authorities of the State Highway Division, we were finally informed last month that there would be stop lights installed at the intersection of Highway 94, 67, Broadway and Campo Rd. Hopefully, they will be in around the first of the year. A cloverleaf is scheduled at that point in the early 1970's."

"The Christmas Beautification Program will be held again this year for homes decorated for the holidays. The awards will be for sweepstakes, first, second and third places. Notifications will be sent out as soon as possible to the people of Brookside, in regards to the types of awards, date decorations are to be judged and the date the awards will be presented.

The Dimmer View

fountainhead of freedom. This, then, is right for Wadie Deddah. Where else in the world would he have had the opportunity to not only enjoy democracy but to become one of the nation's lawmakers?

Perhaps the key word is "opportunity."

As an example, at a recent newspaper convention we had an opportunity to spend several hours with a reporter from the Buenos Aires Herald who was in the United States studying American newspapering under a State Department program.

He admitted that he had changed his opinion of Americans since his arrival here.

He was impressed, he said, by the newly found fact that an American could be a bum if he wanted to.

In Argentina, he explained, there is no choice and little opportunity. If you are born poor, the chances are that you will forever remain poor. In America, he added, people become bums because they decide that for themselves.

Viva la United States!

New View of Safe Driving

There's a new booklet being distributed to city and county officials by the State Transportation Agency titled "California's Traffic Safety Strategy."

It is a compilation of traffic data which expands its scope beyond the drunk and the speeding driver.

The booklet, written at the request of the State Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee, backs up a step and gives the motorist's view of the whole traffic accident picture.

It identifies reasons why drivers come to grief in automobiles. It would be erroneous to deny that drunken speeders do not contribute to the hefty accident total.

According to the booklet, there are three phases to any traffic accident. There is the initiation, the crash, and the emergency action that takes place after the crash.

With obvious logic, it points out that if all the factors that initiate accidents could be wiped out, there would be no worry about the second and third phases.

And equally obviously, the study wistfully says that "there is no reasonable hope of being successful (in eliminating phase one) and therefore we must concentrate on all three."

In ABC-fashion it is established that people, vehicles, roads and traffic are the causes of accidents.

People initiate accidents for reasons of physical limitation, lack of education, because they are disturbed, and because they are indifferent, it is explained.

An inability to anticipate is a physical limitation; an ignorance of operation dynamics is a lack of education; optical illusion is a form of disturbance; and being danger-motivated makes a driver indifferent.

Vehicles that are deficient in design or poorly maintained can initiate accidents.

There are two types of roads, the deficient and the deceptive, that can bring a driver to grief.

The deficiencies are usually in geometry, surface, traffic constraints or communications. Deception occurs through alteration, complexity, interaction with environment or unusual environmental conditions.

Traffic itself can be the initiator when there is abnormal speed distribution, unusual volume, a mixture of vehicles and pedestrians, or vehicles operating under different procedures in the same locality.

Descriptions of present programs aimed at eliminating accidents, decreasing their severity when they happen, and enhancing emergency procedures occurring after the fact are a part of the book. The identities of participating organizations are listed.

Forest Rangers to Prevent Cutting of Christmas Trees

Special patrols by Cleveland National Forest rangers were established this week to prevent cutting of forest trees during the pre-Christmas period.

Forest Supervisor Stanley R. Stevenson announced that no permits or sales of Christmas trees will be made this year from Cleveland National Forest lands. Forested areas are limited and all young trees are needed to restock older stands. These stands were heavily hit during the recent period of dry years by insects and tree diseases. Since it is very difficult to establish new trees by reforestation methods in the Southern California mountains, we cannot afford to lose our natural growing stock.

The local State Highway Patrol Office and the County Sheriff's Office have promised full cooperation in checking for Christmas tree violations in the mountain areas. The State law requires anyone who cuts or transports trees or shrubs from lands other than his own must have a permit signed by the landowner which identifies the number and species of tree or shrub and gives the legal description of the land. If more than five trees are transported, a notarized copy of the permit must be filed and transportation tags obtained from the County Sheriff's Office. Landowners with trees should have proof of ownership to avoid delays at check points in the mountain areas.

Several Christmas tree growers in the Ramona-Julian and in the Valley Center areas offer select-and-cut trees. The various kinds of conifers in these tree farms can be selected and tagged at any time and cut by the purchaser whenever he is ready to take his tree home.

The Griffiths scored twice in the first period on TD's by Rick Blanchard and Ken Patterson.

Ralph Lavage and Ernie Wright scored for the Griffiths in the second period as Grossmont piled up a 26-0 halftime advantage.

Grossmont added one score in the third period and two in the final quarter.

John Law Catches Up With James Anthony Colgain

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A life full of law breaking has finally landed James Anthony Colgain, 22, of El Cajon, in state prison. He was sentenced Friday by Superior Court Judge Gerard C. Thomas to up to 15 years for second degree burglary.

Colgain stole an automobile transmission from Mack's Auto Wrecking, 7950 Imperial Ave., Lemon Grove, to put in his own car. He later pleaded guilty and said that he had been drunk the night he committed the crime.

Recently a charge against him of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed in superior court. It arose when Colgain and another man were accused of throwing a 30-pound log onto the cab of a truck. Colgain was on strike against the American Electric Co. of El Cajon and it was a company truck.

He is also charged with battery for upending a person on a bicycle as the man tried to cross a picket line.

There is also a pending petty theft charge. Since 1964, he has received 20 traffic citations, many of them for faulty equipment. The Department of Motor Vehicles reports he has had three accidents since 1964, two in El Cajon.

Colgain at one time as a juvenile ran away from home and supported himself by stealing, burglarizing homes, stores, garages, and shoplifting. He said he took more than 100 bicycles and 27 cars during that three month period.

They are: Mrs. Wes Stephenson, membership chairman; Mrs. Robert Tucker, volunteer chairman; and Mrs. Mrs. Charles Redmond and Mrs. William Faulwetter, publicity co-chairman.

Mrs. Fraenzl also told of plans for a trip to the zoo, which will be the first trip for these pre-school children attending St. Madeleine Sophie's School. They will have a special tour of the Children's Zoo, and will eat lunch before returning home. Mrs. Joseph McMenamin of Spring Valley, teacher at the school, is in charge.

Aztecs After Revenge Against Los Angeles St.

San Diego State College, the nation's number one small college team, will finish the regular season Saturday night with an 8 p.m. contest in Balboa Stadium against rival Los Angeles State.

The Aztecs, winner of nine contests this season, downed tough Northern Arizona, 16-8, in Aztec Bowl last Saturday afternoon while Los Angeles State was bombing San Fernando Valley, 51-19. San Diego State beat the same San Fernando team, 21-0, two weeks ago.

Los Angeles State, defending California Collegiate Athletic Association champion, has found the going a bit rough this year, losing six of nine games, including an embarrassing 70-7 defeat at the hands of Weber State, a team that the Aztecs defeated, 38-34. However, since then Los Angeles State has improved steadily, culminating the uphill climb with last week's victory over San Fernando Valley.

L.A. State's Diablos have whipped the Aztecs three years in a row and Don Coryell's powerhouse will have revenge on its mind.

Californians Not Living Up to Booze-Hound Reputation, Says BofA

Californians apparently aren't living up to their reputation as heavy drinkers, despite the fact that the state leads the nation in the total amount of liquor consumed, according to a special economics report prepared by Bank of America.

The total amount of distilled spirits consumed in California is the highest of any state in the nation, according to the bank's "Outlook for Distilled Spirits" report, but Californians rank only tenth among other states in per capita consumption.

The average Californian consumed only about 2 gallons of distilled spirits during 1965, well above the national average of 1.53 gallons, but not as much as Nevada, where heavy tourism may have helped account for the average 3.84 gallons; Alaska with 2.88 gallons, and New Hampshire with 2.86 gallons.

Record High

Nationally, the Bank of America report estimates that total consumption will increase to a record high of 310 million gallons, up five per cent from 1965's total of 293 million.

Most of this increase, however, will be from imported and "light" spirits, rather than the traditional American whiskeys, the report points out.

Bourbons and blends, it estimates, will for the first time account for less than half of all distilled spirits consumed in the United States, a trend that started several years ago. An increasing share of the market will be taken over by imported Scotch and Canadian whiskey, and by "white" spirits: gin and vodka.

This trend, the report states, reflects the preferences of increasing numbers of youthful drinkers who seek a "light" taste in their liquor. In addition, it estimates, the large number of young, inexperienced drinkers is likely to bring about a sizeable increase in the sale of bottled cocktails.

Vodka, which was practically unknown in the United States 15 years ago, probably will overtake gin in popularity during 1966, the Bank of America report predicts.

Price Change

Price changes also can be expected in many states, partly as the result of a recently enforced New York State law which requires distillers to affirm that their wholesale bottle and case prices of each brand are as low in New York as anywhere in the country. Because of the importance of the New York market, the result is expected to be an identical pricing scale throughout the United States. So far, some wholesale prices in New York have been reduced, while in other states prices have increased.

The effect of the New York law on California prices is presently under study as distillers review their wholesale prices," the report states. "No conclusions as to price movements have yet been reached."

More traffic deaths are caused by improper driving than by intoxicated drivers, the National Safety Council says.

THE BIRTHDAY PARTY — Phil Mathews is a lonely pianist unresponsive to efforts of his friendly landlady, Lille Mae Barr, to cheer him up in the nightmarish comedy-drama "The Birthday Party," staged in the Old Globe Arena in Falstaff Tavern, Balboa Park, Nov. 24 through Dec. 11, nightly except Monday. Directed by Craig Noel.

American farmers have become the world's biggest exporters. They supply more than 20% of world agricultural trade, and receive a sixth of their income from exports.

Ice cream production in California increased 62% from 1954 to 1964. Consumption in the state in 1965 was 66,455,000 gallons, or about 14 quarts per capita.

Indians, under a treaty of 1855, were given exclusive fishing rights on the Deschutes river bordering their Oregon reservation.

Symphony Slated

Carlos Chavez, Mexico's most distinguished composer/conductor, will lead the San Diego Symphony Orchestra in its opening concert Nov. 29. The concert will be held in the Civic Theatre at 8:30 p.m.

Maestro Chavez, one of the world's most renowned musicians, will perform his own Symphony No. 5, written for string orchestra as well as traditional works.

Since 1961 the U.S. has sent $1.5 billion to France.

Comedy, Terror Star in 'The Birthday Party'

A nightmare of terror and suspense is created in "The Birthday Party" as a lonely bachelor is destroyed by two sinister strangers. The Harold Pinter comedy-drama opens tonight at the Old Globe Arena in Falstaff Tavern, Balboa Park. Performances will continue nightly except Monday through Dec. 11. Craig Noel is director.

Active duty enlisted military personnel may purchase tickets to the Old Globe Theatre productions for $1.50 each at Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday performances. This is a 40% saving from the regular reserved seat ticket price. Advance reservations are available; telephone 239-9139.

Phil Mathews plays the leading role of an introverted pianist, living in isolation after escaping from a previous life. Lille Mae Barr operates the cheap English seaside rooming house, where he has boarded for more than a year. She treats him as her son. Her taciturn husband will be played by Frank Heryet.

Two strangers arrive unexpectedly into this quiet existence. Without apparent provocation, they begin to interrogate, then terrorize the confused artists. Martin Sheratte is the leader of the intruders. The quiet, strong-armed bully is Michael Cheal. Pat Hansen portrays a local trollop who attends the birthday celebration.

No one in the boarding house realizes the strangers' intentions to destroy the sensitive, bewildered pianist. Each fails to respond and offer aid.

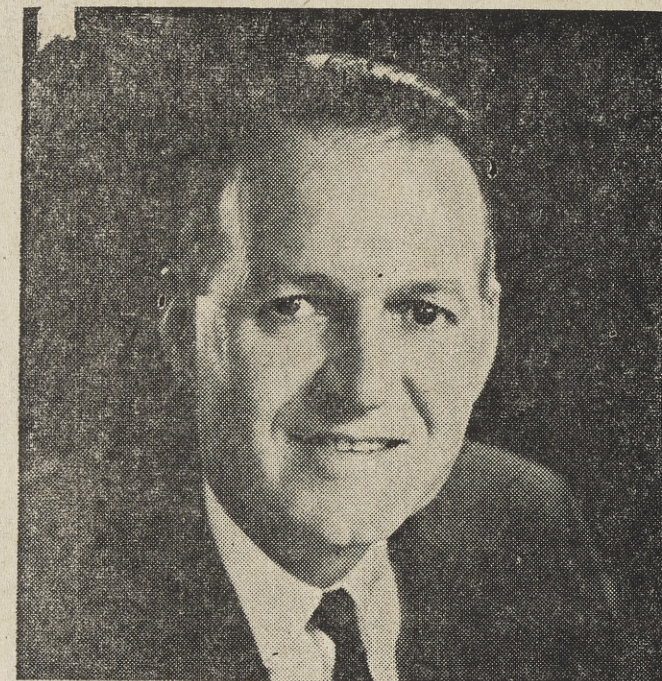

British playwright Pinter is also author of "The Room," "The Dumbwaiter" and "The Caretaker," presented last sea-

ORBIT FOR A $2 BILL

The $2 bill died last year at the ripe old age of 190. Treasury officials listed the cause of death as unpopularity in the hands of a suspicious public.

The bill was born in 1776, fathered by the Second Continental Congress as "bills of credit for the defense of America." After this noble beginning as a financial backer of the American Revolution, the bill soon slipped into questionable dealings.

As the volume of $2 bills expanded, they depreciated to such an extent that Congress felt compelled to appeal to the patriotism of the people. When that failed, Congress went so far as to declare in a resolution that any person who was "so lost of all virtue and regard for his country as to refuse to receive the bills in payment, or obstruct or discourage the currency would be deemed, published, and treated as an enemy of this country..."

Despite the threat, the notes continued to decline in value and eventually the issuance of the $2 bill lapsed. Making a game try for a comeback, the bill reappeared during the Civil War. It never recovered from its bad reputation.

Bad Luck Tag

The origin of the bad luck tag that has been associated with the $2 bill has several possible explanations. One was that politicians used the bill to buy votes. In the election of 1880, for example, it was said that the possession of a $2 bill was clear proof that a man had sold his vote. Another explanation was that counterfeiters found it relatively easy to change a $2 bill into a bogus $20 bill. Still others who were superstitious about the "two" believed that the curse could be removed only by tearing off a corner of the bill.

In general, the less the bills were used, the more unpopular they became. Merchants in many communities were suspicious of them; they were unfamiliar because of their infrequent use, cash registers had no special chambers for them, and clerks often mistook the $2 bill for a $1 bill when making change. Thus, the bills became "unlucky" in a very practical sense.

Several communities attempted to make use of the $2 bill in publicity drives. The Seattle World's Fair, for example, issued the bills as change in an effort to establish the fair as a producer of community income. But the bills soon wound up in the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank.

The only areas where the bills are used with any frequency are Chicago and Boston. Ironically, the two's may finally find some public demand now that the Treasury has discontinued them. It would not be surprising if they became a collector's item. But if such a demand materializes, the Treasury will be unconcerned. As far as the government is concerned, the two is dead. Sic transit gloria mundi.

22 Mt. Miguel Students Earn Election to Mu Alpha Theta

Twenty-two students at Mt. Miguel High School were honored recently by election to Mu Alpha Theta, international high school and junior college mathematics club.

The announcement was made by Dr. Harold V. Huneke, national secretary-treasurer, who is an associate professor of mathematics at The University of Oklahoma where the national office of Mu Alpha Theta is located.

As minimum requirements for membership, a student must have completed with distinction at least four semesters of college preparatory mathematics and be enrolled in the fifth semester. He also must have an overall grade of at least a "B" in all of his high school work.

Mu Alpha Theta, founded at The University of Oklahoma in 1957, now has more than 1,000 clubs in all 50 states and in England, Switzerland, Japan, Canada, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The club is sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and has attracted the attention of top mathematics scholars in this country and abroad.

Club activities consist of work in areas of mathematics not usually covered in the classroom. A journal containing challenging problems in mathematics is mailed to each club three times during the school year. Regional meetings are held each year and students are encouraged to participate in many extracurricular mathematical activities.

"The University of Oklahoma and many other major universities give special consideration to Mu Alpha Theta members when scholarship applications are processed," Huneke said. "Students have discovered that the study programs encouraged by the club help them when they begin to take college courses in mathematics."

Mrs. Elizabeth O. Anderson is the sponsor of the Mt. Miguel High School club of Mu Alpha Theta.
